

From the VP: Your Input Matters

Hello everyone,
As you have seen in recent messages from President Stokes, and again at the Regent's Meeting, the UNM 2040 vision plan framework is being developed. Throughout the process, the project development team is asking for input to ensure the process is inclusive, and everyone has a chance to make their voice heard. I encourage you all to take this opportunity to add your feedback regarding the UNM 2040 Vision on the 2040 Vision Comments webpage. Please share your perceptions and ideas as to the current or future state of the University. Help us shape a vision, values and goals that are aspirational and relevant. Please check back at this website regularly for future opportunities to provide feedback as this project progresses.

~Tim

STAFF SPOTLIGHT

Rod Lansing has been running since 8th grade and hasn't stopped yet, only now, it's not only a hobby, it's a mission. Aside from his job as a Program Analyst for UNM American Indian Student Services, he also serves as the Associate Director for Running Medicine (RM), a Native Institute's of Health initiative. RM is based on the understanding that running and exercise is a beautiful and potent medicine for mind, body, and spirit.

Recently featured on RM's Facebook page, Lansing says he became involved in the initiative after attending a RM celebration in 2016 with his family. "We have been fortunate to meet many wonderful friends and families just by attending RM regularly," he says. "RM celebrations are a great place to let go of negative energy and connect with nature."
