

Message from the VP

Dear Student Affairs Colleagues,

Welcome back to campus. I hope that spring break was a time of rest, productivity, or ideally both! Though the weather has not shown it so far this week, it is officially spring and the uptick in activity around campus in the coming weeks will certainly build energy towards our annual commencement exercises and the many graduation celebrations hosted by division departments. It's hard to believe that in two short months the campus will once again be quiet, while in between we will experience one of the busiest times of our year. Don't sleep on summer though as new student orientation is a critical cultural moment for our incoming students. I invite you to hold the announced dates below to help ensure our incoming students experience a vibrant campus with representation from all of our service units. And on the topic of great service, this is the last week to nominate someone for a Louie award, so I hope you'll take a moment to put in a nomination before submissions close on Friday. I hope you will also consider nominating a UNM woman for the Women's Resource Center's exceptional woman awards.

I'm so glad to be on this journey with you and thankful for everything you do for our students. See you around campus!

Eric

Dominguez Elected Chair for AERA

Dr. Nora Dominguez, director for the UNM Mentoring Institute was recently elected American Educational Research Association (AERA), chair of the Mentorship and Mentoring Practices special interest group. Her term begins at the end of this year and runs for the next three years. Founded in 1916, AERA aims to improve the educational process by encouraging scholarly inquiry related to education and evaluation and by promoting the dissemination and practical application of research results. Dominguez joins more than 25,000 members in working on a range of settings from universities and other academic institutions to research institutes, federal and state agencies, school systems, testing companies, and nonprofit organizations. Based on their research, they produce and disseminate knowledge, refine methods and measures, and stimulate translation and practical application of research results. Read more about AERA here.
